

Dino Skip

To Prepare:

- Cut out Dino Skip game board and glue together before laminating. {You could also mount the game board on a heavier colored paper for a sturdier board.} Laminate and cut out Dino Skip cards.

How to Play:

- Have the teacher choose a "magic number." This can be any even number between 2 and 20, depending on the level of your students. {For the most simple version, start with 2, then try starting with 20 and having students count backwards by 2's. For an added challenge, try starting with 10 or 14 and then build by 2's in both directions.}
- Place Dino Skip cards face-down. Each player picks up 5 cards. The first player must play a card with the "magic number" to start the game. If they have a card with the number, they place it on one of the rectangles on the game board. If they do not have the number, they draw a card. The second player may either play a card with the "magic number" and a different picture, or they may play off of the first player's turn by laying down the card with the same picture and the number that comes next {or before, depending on your "magic number"} {See next page for directions with pictures! :)}
• The first player to get rid of all of their cards wins!
