

Mesolithic house instructions - task

Can you order these step by step instructions for a Stone age person to follow?
They have never built a Mesolithic house before so need your help.

Once you have put them in the correct order, can you draw an illustration next to each step.

Remember to look back at the video to help you.

The next step is to weave smaller sticks through the timber poles so that the grass turf or animal skin will stay in place on the structure.

Finally fix the grass turf or animal skin in place on top of the timber poles.
This will make the house watertight.

First, you should raise the long supporting poles and secure them in place.

Next, other long timber poles should be added to create a tepee shape, this shape is the base of the structure.